Benefits: Upper Chesapeake Health's Cancer LifeNet Services

Chesapeake Cancer Alliance invites the public to the fifth annual CCA Festival of Trees. The Bel Air Armory will be filled with beautiful, decorated trees ranging in sizes from miniature to 7 feet tall. Local community organizations, businesses, and designers have donated, designed and decorated the trees. A silent auction of the trees will be held all weekend, ending November 28 at 2 p.m.

Special events and activities are featured for the entire family, including decorated Gingerbread houses on display, fresh greens and wreaths, bake table, live entertainment and a lunch cafe and gift boutiques. Face painting, craft activities and games are planned for children.

All proceeds benefit Upper Chesapeake's Cancer LifeNet programs, which include education, symptom management, community resource referrals, as well as end-of-life care and bereavement counseling. The Cancer LifeNet program services are free to patients and their families. For information call 410-692- 6627 or www.chesapeakecanceralliance.org.
